

Season 5, Episode 0 - Trailer Transcript

This transcription was completed on December 8, 2022 with the application Recorder on Pixel 7. This was done automatically, without human input during the transcription process. I lightly edited the transcription for egregious spelling errors. My hope is that by offering this transcription – however accurate it may be done by a machine – will help you, the listener. I'd love to offer full, proper transcription some day, but that is not feasible at this time. Thank you for listening and reading. I hope you enjoy the show and that this document was helpful. Enjoy.

Hello everybody and welcome to chapter select a seasonal podcast where we bounce back and forth between a series exploring their evolution design and legacy for season five. We are covering. Resident evil. Did i do a good impersonation? You think

So? Not too bad. Okay, my name is Max Roberts. I'm joined as always by Logan Moore. Hi logan,

Hey, we're back to the video games back. So video games movies are gone back to games, which means, larger times, sinks Or is evil. Does have movies. We're not discussing. That's true. So we're not discussing the resident of films. No. Alice discussions. I think that's her name. I don't Know. I've never seen those. I've only seen say welcome to raccoon city. Same, you want to be about in the theater

Together. You and me both. This is this is why we Watched fast and furious are part of the reason was so that we could play all of the resident evil games. Because residential 4 remake is coming out. Fairly soon.

Yeah. So And so this is kind of The inverse of what we did with fast which was i've never seen any of those movies. And but i was interested from afar and you brought me into the fold and now we're doing the same thing here, sort of in reverse with resident evil, where i have played all of these games. And you've played none of them. And so, or there's pretty much none of them very few. Yeah, you played parts of seven and village i believe that's about a.

Yeah.

Um, so half of two Half of two and platinum, three remake. Yeah. So now i'm bringing you into the fold with this formally, which i think will be quite fun. I'm Looking forward to it because Uh, we've recorded some of the episodes, actually, before recording, this little peak behind the curtain, but, you know, my introduction was pretty much solely through resident evil 7 and VR. And so i'm excited to explore the, the past games, and the new remakes and kind of see how it all comes together. I'm i'm actually loving the old games. I think a bit more than some of the the more modern stuff. So i'm i'm very excited to finally dig into this. Legendary video game series.

Yeah. Some of the things you've been you're saying here about how you like the old games, a little bit more as interesting to me, based on some of the discussions we've already had. So I'm curious to see where you'll stay in, once we get to the end of this season. With that in mind, we are doing a little bit of a different order for this season. We're going back to our bounce, back and forth, sort of core of chapters here. So we will be going from some older entries in the series to newer entries but we're not doing it. In the way you would potentially expect.

We tailor made the order this season around. Both the release order of these games remakes, and how they fit in with older games because we have some core older games. So it's kind of this fusion of new old release order in some narrative stuff that makes a bit of sense and not only

That, but we're not doing. If there has been a remake in the series, we are not playing the original game as well. It's yes. Except for, in the case of resident evil 4, Yes, that is the only one and the reason we're doing that is because That game is not out yet and that game will actually release midway through our recording of this season.

Uh,

So we will be playing that game in real time and we thought that that was going to be a fun way to Build up to that game when it releases in march 2023. With that being said, though, here is the order we are going with for season five, it will start with the original resident, evil, the remake. I guess you should say that hd remake is a re-specifically played, you know, the re remake so resident, evil one, resident evil 7. Resident evil zero, resident evil 2, remake resident, evil 4, resident, evil 3 remake resident, evil code, veronica resident, evil village or Resident Evil 8. Whatever you want to call it. Residual five resident evil 6 and then we will endcap things with resident evil 4 remake. It's a little different as we said where if we were to do a true back and forth, you know, we would start with resident evil one and then go to village four remake. Well, before

We make one to be out by then but yeah, it

Wouldn't, but Like that's kind of the problem that was presented with this season, too. Is do. We bounce back and forth and Chronological order or game number order because obviously resident evil 2. The remake is Newer but i i don't know. So this was a little bit of a different way that we had to construct this list and i think we did. So in a way that makes sense and will be conducive to good conversations, which is what our Core of this podcast. The goal is always. Yes. Yeah, so

I'm excited about it. I think our order is pretty snazzy if i do say so myself. And I think it's lending itself to. Discovering these remakes in a better way against the context of where they came from the series, and how they've been improved, or maybe not so much improved. It coming into the modern era, you know, what is good from the old games? What's good in the new ones? So we've got this fusion and there's a bunch of different ways to play these games too from on playstation, which is predominantly. I think where we're both playing them to things like in VR or the old games on GameCube and things like that. So, there's a lot of different platforms in methods of playing these games that will be exploring as well. And

I think that's one of the things i would encourage people. I mean, if you're listening to this, i assume you might be playing or listening along with us. Uh, for this coming season. I don't think we've ever played a series of games that is going to be more easily accessible. Then resident evil. All of these games are Widely available across xbox playstation, switch and pc. You can play the full Series, every single of those. Yeah, except for, in the case of i guess four remake will be the only one that will not be on switch. I'm thinking, but i think everything else is on switch via cloud versions and stuff. I'm not sure. Yeah, code

I think i guess, i think two and three are cloud versions on switch. Remake. So those games are accessible to you. There they go. On sale all the time digitally on switch and playstation xbox. So they're super accessible at which is been really nice and refreshing compared to some of our previous seasons where it's like, how do i get this game or how do i play that per se? So i'm very excited about it. My shelf is now all present. I have the whole resident evil collection. Now it's and now i'm looking at some Wii games. Get

These dark chronicles games and all this outbreak on ps2. Yeah,

I'm really diving down. The resident evil rabbit hole and it's super. Super fun. The

Other thing we did want to point out here up top is just a couple of the guests that will have on this season. This could change but we do have a couple locked in so that you can look forward to hearing from. Ricky Frech will be coming back on the show. We've got Michael Ruiz coming back on the show and then we will have a couple newcomers as well. This season Dustin Furman from last and media will Joining us for one episode and our good old podcasting, buddy, Jerrad Wyche will be on an episode as well. And we might have some others Joining in too, but

We're not sure yet. So we'll see. Yeah, it's still very much in production. We've got a healthy lead time on here, thanks to fast and furious, but we are very much looking forward to the rest of this season. It's starts next week, on January 11th and we'll carry us all the way through in a bi-weekly manner to May 31st. So basically the first five months of the year is just going to be resident evil town here on chapter select. So thank you so much for listening to chapter select we're looking for Forward to season 5.
